FOR THE BABY. To make childrens bibs, take white linen toweling about sixteen inches wide—the kind with a red stripe down the side. Take child's waist or yoke patterns and shape the neck. Hem neck and bottom and sew tape on to tie around neck. One yard will make two long or three short ones; they cover the dress nicely and are so easily made and ironed.

An electric flashlight kept under the pillow is convenient for the mother of young children who have to be watched at night for fear they will get uncovered.

When mother hasn't anything convenient for baby to sleep in for the porch, see if you can't find a shirt-waist box or trunk you are not using. Line it with a soft comfort; put in a thick pad, a hot water bottle; lay baby in, cover up warm and "comfy," set out on porch. Be careful to fasten lid back firmly. Arrange according to wind. In this way baby gets the fresh air and is not exposed to the wind.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) We are two sisters of 15 and 17 years of age, and we have been keeping company with two young gentlemen, one of whom has been married and divorced. I think a great deal of this fellow and he has always treated me in a lady-like manner. Do you think that I am too young to go with him?

(2) How late should we girls keep company after coming home from the theatre?

(3) Does a young man think very much of a girl when he comes once and then waits two or three months before coming again? He has been keeping this up for a year. I think a lot of him. Should I let him come back when he wants to?

(4) Is rouge injurious to the skin?

(5) What will remove freckles?

(6) What do you think of a fellow who will speak sometimes on the street and other times turn his head?

(7) Yes, a girl of 17, if you are 17, should be going with boys of her own age, not divorced men.

(8) Not at all. The boys who took you should leave you at the door.

(9) He probably likes you, but is not in love with you. Of course, let him come again. You are too young to have a man any more to you than a friend.

(10) Yes, it roughens the skin. It is injurious to the reputation also.

(11) Two drams oxide of zinc, one-quarter dram sublimate of bismuth, one and three-quarters drams of dextrin, one and a half drams of glycerine. Spread the paste upon the freckles at night, before going to bed. In the morning remove what remains with a little powdered borax and almond oil.

(12) He might not see the girl. A girl should not speak to a boy if she is reasonably sure that at times he does not care to speak to her.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Can you tell me how to take scars left by boils from the face?

(2) Can you give me a recipe for a cheap blood medicine?

(3) I am going to a masquerade and would like to make up like a hobo. Can you tell me what to put on two or three of my teeth to make them look as if they were missing?

In fact, M. & K. are showing values in women's wear this season that defy all competition. To see is to be convinced.

We have a special line of models for stout women—those with bust measurements 35 to 51, who cannot be fit in the regular sizes. The models are of a pleasing variety, some with cluster pleated skirts.

The Suit Modes Will Delight All Women

Every new style feature that is correct and good will be found expressed in some of the many new models assembled here for your approval.

Boleros, Etons, Norfolk and Empire jackets predominate in both the two- and three-piece suits. Some of the coats show the military collars, while others are higher and smaller than last season.

Distinctive Coats at $6.75, $9.95, $12.50, $14.95, $19.95

At these popular prices women are assured of the very greatest values possible in high grade women's new spring coats. There are higher priced garments too, but the point we emphasize is that M. & K. has a coat in stock for every woman, at the price she has decided to pay.

Quite prominent among the new garments is the coat of covert cloth, while those in pretty checked effects, plaids, stripes and tweed-like mixtures are extremely popular. The assortment is most complete in models for evening and street wear.
